Burger King could be coming to Newport

A new thing that lots of people are talking about is the prospect of a Burger King coming to Newport. When I first heard this, I thought, "Pfft! As if this could actually happen!" But it actually might not be too far off. I am not totally sure that this could happen, but it is a major possibility.

Some instances of why I believe this to be happening soon: I have heard many people talking about it, even teachers at my school, so I theorize that it must be coming soon if the subject of it is so popular that even teachers are talking about it, then it must be really popular. Teachers usually only talk about super exciting stuff, like a new Star Wars movie or the Super Bowl or the World Series or something like that. The likelihood of this happening is high, and if it fails to happen, I will be legitimately surprised.
